HISTORICAL NOTES The former St Johns is a three bay rendered brick and lined building, with an ashlar base and a galvanised iron roof, featuring diagonal buttresses set on splays. It is a rare surviving example of the simple Presbyterian Churches of that period.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE Historically this building has regional rarity and significance: it represents the earliest surviving evidence of a major centre for Presbyterian worship in the Upper Hunter Valley. Socially the building shares local significance with the more recent church building. Scientifically it is of regional significance for its potential to reveal information about the Presbyterian catchment in the earliest years of settlement in the Upper Hunter and its style of worship.
