HISTORICAL NOTES The Prince of Wales Masonic Lodge built this lodge in 1888 on land bought from Clark. The building was planned by one of the Lodge members, T. Dixon Chater, who was described as the 'honorary architect'. G. Parrs was the bricklayer and finance was provided by George Blunt. The importance of Masonry in the social life of the period gives this building particular local significance because of its links with many of the town's leading male citizens.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE The building is strongly identified with the establishment of the Masons in Muswellbrook in the latter 19th century and as such has local historic significance. Its early history can be linked with the towns leading businessmen. It therefore has local social significance for the establishment of the Masons in Muswellbrook. Aesthetically the building is of distinctive design conceived and built by local Architect and a local builder. It has local aesthetic significance. Scientifically the building is of local significance for it reveals the period of establishment of Masons in Muswellbrook in the late 19th century and has the capacity to reveal information which could contribute to an understanding of the scale and manner of its activities.
