HISTORICAL NOTES The first settler in the Widden valley in 1836 was John Tindale. In 1855-56 John and William Thompson acquired their land on Widden Brook and 11 years later bought Tindale's land. At this time the emphasis changed from wool production to the breeding of thoroughbred horses and raising cattle. After seven generations of Thompsons the stud has seen some leading horse breeders and has been referred to as one of "the finest thoroughbred studs in the world".

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE Historically the Stud is significant not only to the region but to the state in relation to the birth and development of the horsebreeding industry in NSW. Socially the property is of regional significance for its association with seven generations of the Thompson family, one of the state's pioneer horsebreeding families, and one of the oldest thoroughbred studs in the world. Scientifically the stud must be considered to be of state significance for its rare potential to reveal information which could contribute to an understanding of the scale of thoroughbred breeding in NSW in the mid to late 19th century and later and of the lifestyles of the generations of the state's major thoroughbred breeding family of that period.
